

BATANGAS STATE UNIVERSITY

The National Engineering University

UNIVERSITY DIVESTMENT STATEMENT

Batangas State University, The National Engineering University, as a public institution, holds no shares in any carbon-intensive energy industry notably coal and oil.

Recognizing the severe environmental impact of carbon-intensive energy, we are dedicated to using our funds in a socially responsible manner. Our Strategic Plan for the years 2019-2029 outlines our unwavering commitment to sound resource management, ensuring the effective and efficient execution of our mandates while guaranteeing the continuity of our programs, thus:

“The University shall ensure sound resource management in order to effectively and efficiently carry out its mandates and to guarantee continuity of its programs. It shall observe accountability, transparency and efficiency in all its operations. The University shall explore public and private partnerships in its investment initiatives as well as global funding in order to widen streams of resources. It shall consider environmental sustainability in the planning and implementation of its programs, projects and activities.”

Hence, when we implement our programs, we make sure that every investment that it requires do not contribute in the aggravation of environmental damage, but should conserve and responsibly manage a healthy environment.
