BATSTATEU SUPPORTS ARTS AND HERITAGE

BatStateU supports arts and heritage by strengthening and providing access to local cultural heritage.

BATSTATEU AS CULTURAL INSTITUTION

Batangas State University (BatStateU) has firmly established itself as a cultural institution in the Philippines, reflecting over a century of commitment to education and community engagement. Founded in 1903, BatStateU has evolved from a manual training school to the nation's first National Engineering University, embodying a legacy of academic excellence intertwined with cultural enrichment. Its rich history showcases a dedication to fostering a diverse and inclusive environment where students can explore and celebrate Filipino heritage through various cultural programs and initiatives.

In the Academic Year 2022-2023, BatStateU served over 61,000 students, supported by a dedicated team of 2,600 faculty and staff across its 11 campuses. This impressive number highlights the university's expansive reach and influence within the community, making it a significant public institution. The vibrant academic environment fosters a diverse cultural landscape, as students from 17 different regions come together to learn and grow. By providing access to quality education and resources, BatStateU reinforces its commitment to being a public institution that not only educates but also nurtures a sense of belonging and cultural exchange among its students.

SUSTAINABLE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES

2023

Batangas State University (BatStateU), recognized as the National Engineering University, is dedicated to fostering an inclusive environment for its students, staff, and faculty. A significant aspect of this commitment involves providing public access to various facilities across its campuses, which are named in honor.

The University created the Committee on Naming of Buildings and Halls through OUP Memorandum Order No. 319, s. 2023, which mandated the committee to evaluate the status of facilities and propose appropriate names based on Section IV. K. of the Manual of University Protocols (BOR Resolution No. 49, s. 2021). This process was guided by several legal bases, including the Revised Guidelines on the Naming and Renaming of Public Structures, Republic Act No. 1059 (which prohibits naming public institutions after living persons), Republic Act No. 7160 (Local Government Code), and Republic Act No. 11694 (Revised Batangas State University Charter).

The committee evaluated proposed names for facilities across constituent and extension campuses, categorized into:

- National Heroes
- National Scientists
- National Artists
- Local Heroes
- Significant figures in the local community
- Notable individuals in specific disciplines
- Donors
- Objects (including flora and fauna)
- Place names
- Unique functions and purposes
- Events

The university has named 186 buildings, halls, parks, and open spaces, including notable locations such as Pablo Borbon, Alangilan, Rosario, San Juan, Balayan, Mabini, Malvar, Nasugbu, and Lipa. This initiative has significantly enhanced the sense of identity and pride within the BatStateU community.

The named facilities are accessible to all university members and serve multiple important purposes. Classrooms and laboratories support academic use, fostering innovative teaching and learning practices. Additionally, parks and open spaces are venues for cultural events, performances, and workshops, encouraging participation from students, staff, and local residents. Recreational facilities promote a healthy lifestyle through sports and leisure activities, further enhancing community engagement.

.By promoting public access to these vital facilities, BatStateU has strengthened its commitment to creating an inclusive environment where everyone can thrive. This initiative not only honors the rich heritage of Batangas but also fosters educational, cultural, and recreational opportunities for all members of the university community. Through this approach, BatStateU has established itself as a hub for cultural exchange in the region, ensuring that its facilities contribute positively to the community and enrich the overall university experience.
